

2023 VWD Course Travel Award

Maria Carter-Fabres, MD

Assistant Professor
Cincinnati Children's Hospital

Originally from Venezuela, Dr. Carter-Fabres obtained her medical degree at the Universidad de Carabobo. She completed pediatric residency at Nicklaus Children's Hospital and then pursued a fellowship in Pediatric Hematology-Oncology at Primary Children's Hospital at the University of Utah. Finally, she completed a Hemostasis/Thrombosis fellowship at Cincinnati Children's Hospital where she is currently an Assistant Professor in the Division of Hematology. Her clinical research and interests are focused on bleeding disorders with a special emphasis in females with bleeding disorders.