Rachel Kronenfeld, MD

Fellow
University of Miami Miller
School of Medicine
Jackson Memorial Hospital

Dr. Kronenfeld is a third-year Pediatric Hematology/Oncology Fellow at the University of Miami/Jackson Memorial Hospital. She received her Doctor of Medicine from the University of Miami-Miller School of Medicine where she graduated with research distinction. She then pursued her Residency in Pediatrics at the University of Miami/Jackson Memorial Hospital, where her passion for pediatric hematology was cultivated via mentors Dr. Fernando Corrales-Medina and Dr. Joanna Davis. Their mentorship inspired her to subspecialize in Pediatric Hematology/Oncology for fellowship at the University of Miami/Jackson Memorial Hospital. Her research interests include Von Willebrand Disease, rare bleeding disorders, women and girls with bleeding disorders, and pediatric anticoagulation.
