Abstract Submission for THSNA 2020 is open

Submissions are due December 13, 2019

Online abstract submission is now open for the 2020 Thrombosis & Hemostasis Summit of North America (THSNA). Abstract submissions will be considered for either a digital poster presentation and/or short oral presentation in each of the following program tracks: Thrombosis, Hemostasis, Laboratory, and Basic Science.

THSNA brings together the leading hemostasis and thrombosis organizations and experts to provide insight on improving patient care. This year’s Summit will highlight basic science, clinical, and laboratory information that reflects the latest understanding of bleeding and clotting disorders. The Summit will host over 1,500 healthcare professionals and coagulation scientists who are committed to the diagnosis, management and improved understanding of thrombotic and bleeding disorders.

For more information, click HERE or visit the THSNA 2020 Summit website.