

Brigham and Women's Hospital — Hematology Faculty

The Division of Hematology at Brigham and Women's Hospital, an affiliate of Harvard Medical School, seeks applicants for clinical positions in benign hematology. Candidates with an MD or MD, PhD may be considered. Applicants must have clinical expertise that will allow participation in patient care and the training of clinical fellows. Applicants must be board certified in hematology.

Applicants will be recruited to spend the majority of their time in outpatient and inpatient clinical care, with a portion of their time dedicated to clinical research and teaching. Candidates also will be expected to teach and mentor trainees of Harvard Medical School.

Appointment at the Instructor, Assistant Professor, or Associate Professor academic rank at Harvard Medical School will be commensurate with experience, training and achievements. Successful candidates will have a clinical appointment at Brigham and Women's Hospital, Brigham and Women's Faulkner Hospital, and the Dana-Farber Cancer Center.

Applicants should include a cover letter, curriculum vitae, brief summaries of past accomplishments and current clinical and research interests.

Three letters of recommendation should be sent separately from individuals who can provide an evaluation of the candidate's clinical and teaching accomplishments and future potential.
