FAMILY NURSE PRACTITIONER POSITION
COHEN CHILDREN’S MEDICAL CENTER
NORTHWELL HEALTH

The Hemostasis and Thrombosis Center at Cohen Children’s Medical Center, Northwell Health (previously known as North Shore/LIJ Health System Hemophilia Treatment Center) in New Hyde Park, New York, has an open full-time Family Nurse Practitioner (FNP) position to partner and care for pediatric and adult patients with bleeding and clotting disorders.

Our program cares for over 500 pediatric and adult patients with hemophilia, von Willebrand Disease and rare bleeding disorders. The ideal candidate will assist in:

- Clinical patient care and telephone triage to assess patient needs
- Collaborate with pediatric and adult hematologists, staff nurses and other providers in developing treatment plans, managing follow-up visits and calls
- Coordinate patient care within the division, as well as other subspecialty and ancillary providers
- Transition patient care between inpatient and outpatient settings
- Manage the clinic flow and provide education and self-care instructions on bleeding disorders and thrombophilia for patients and families
- Perform in-service training for other health care staff, students and communities; educate pediatric and adult Emergency Department staff, as well as inpatient floor staff on treatment strategies for this patient population
- Assist with patient eligibility determination for on-going and new research studies; participate in IRB research trainings and necessary certifications

If you are interesting in applying for this position, please submit your CV to: rmasarik@northwell.edu