

Podcast: NHLBI Resources and Grants for Hematologists with Drs. DiMichele and Hoots

How to maximize research training and funding opportunities for non-malignant hematology and blood science investigators is the subject of this free podcast, in which Dr. Donna DiMichele and Dr. Keith Hoots of the National Heart, Lung, and Blood Institute (NHLBI) talk about NHLBI and National Institutes of Health resources and grants available to hematologists. They provide important info about the new Career Pathway to Independence in Blood Science Award for Physician Scientists, stress the significance of working with program officers, and advise applicants on how to make the application as smooth as possible.

To access the ASH-DBDR podcast via the ASH link, CLICK HERE.

To access directly, CLICK HERE.